Mnemonic - noun - a device such as a pattern of letters, ideas, or associations that assists in remembering something.

"The use of mnemonics is a very effective way of permeating our subconscious" said Eric Harry. "Remember "Avon Calling"?. "You can't ask for better advertising than that. Even though our conscious logic might not be aware of something, our subconscious definately records everything we see, hear, smell... Unique mnemonics...act like powerful hypnotic suggestions".
